

LIVERPOOL REMAINS PRINCIPAL COTTON PORT OF ENGLAND; RAW PRODUCTS FROM U. S. DISGORGED

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles by Curtis Vinson, head of the publicity department of the American Cotton Association, who accompanied a group to Europe during the past summer on Texas cotton and its reception in foreign markets.

By Curtis Vinson.
LIVERPOOL, ENGLAND.—Buying American cotton in this great English port and cotton concentration center is a business of huge proportions. For next to the United States, Great Britain, despite a marked drop in imports in recent years, is still the largest consumer of American cotton. And the major portion of the American cotton imported for England's 50,000,000 spindles moves through Liverpool.

Due to the important and historic role of Liverpool in the industry, members of the group from the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, making their tour of cotton concentration and spinning centers of Europe, found the visit to this port of unusual interest.

They saw the disgorging of the raw product from American fields by ocean carriers tied up at the docks, they saw it moving by horse-drawn and motor-trucks over the cobblestones of Liverpool to storage in the dim recesses of huge warehouses. They saw it being sampled in the sample rooms of Liverpool merchants and they listened to the hue and cry of buyers milling about the American ring in the Liverpool Cotton Exchange.

Much to the U. S. Cotton. Being heavy purchasers of the American product, English merchants had a lot to say about cotton from the United States. Much American cotton is mixed and not even running, they said. And they complained of the ragged condition of the American square bale, the repeated samplings that leaves the bale in a ragged condition. Excess weight in bagging and ties and increase in the number of false packed bales in American shipments in recent years were other points of criticism.

While total stocks of cotton in Liverpool warehouses were less than 200,000 bales at the time of the visit than on corresponding date a year previous, business on the floor of the cotton exchange indicated a better condition in the trade and merchants were inclined to be more optimistic. They expressed some concern, however, over the effect the U. S. agricultural act might have on the industry in its relation to the American crop and voiced the opinion that governmental regulation of crops and price would prove harmful to the trade.

Pleasant Voyage.
The Texas group returned here following a very pleasant nine-day voyage aboard the S. S. Cunard, a ship that was without mishap as far as sea sickness on the part of any member of the party was concerned. Jack Langston was complimented with the beauty of the Irish coast that it was with difficulty he was persuaded from disembarking at Galway and the again at Queenstown.

Every member of the group carried off a prize of one sort or another in the ship's entertainment contests. Mr. Mogford excelled in the cracker song competition. Stewart, the American potato-race participant, Jewel Gwin led the field in what and Jack Langston garnered the laurels as the most "pleasant" early to bed and early to rise entry. Bill Bushman, a high school coach of Dallas was aboard and he won the race race. It was a regular Texas field day.

Congratulations Extended.
Many congratulations were extended to the arrival here by P. A. and other members of the group. D. F. Pennafather & Co., Liverpool cotton merchants. Under the auspices of an employee of the Texas group, the Liverpool Cotton Association, several of the cotton warehouses. Liverpool warehouses can accommodate about 5,000,000 bales of cotton and as many as 100,000 bales have been in storage at one time. Stocks in Liverpool at the time of the visit were about 700,000 bales.

Many warehouses cotton stored all over the world is stored in the city. The spindles of Lancashire mill are supplied with cotton from Egypt, India, the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, British East Africa, Turkey, Argentina is piled tier on tier in the dim storage chambers along with cotton from other countries in cotton bales from Texas and Oklahoma, Mississippi and Georgia, and all other cotton producing areas of the United States.

Four of the Liverpool warehouses, the cotton pilgrims were forwarded to Liverpool Cotton Exchange. They were from Port Smith, Australia, from Vivian, Oklahoma, and from bales with tags that bore the names of other families and home-revolving names. The English bales, new bales, interviewed here pointed out that although the slump in the English spinning industry has been largely responsible, other factors have and are also figuring in the matter. One of these factors, it was pointed out, is the development by the spinners of the practice of blending inferior cotton with some cotton of better grade.

This blending of cottons is largely a post-war development that spinners have resorted to as an economic measure to offset high priced cotton, it was declared. This has been responsible for increased takings of cotton from countries other than the United States when cotton produced in the United States was high in price, it was added. Want Good Low Priced Cotton.

Discussing this phase further, an outstanding Liverpool merchant said that if the United States expects to maintain dominance in the cotton world, a great volume of good cotton at low price must be produced. High priced American cotton has generally resulted in a falling off of imports of the American product by foreign spinners and increased takings of cotton from other producing countries, this merchant went on to say.

The world's consumption of cotton is limited only by price, an English economist interviewed here said. "The world could use thirty million bales of cotton a year and go on using an extra million bales a year through increased application of cotton for various needs," he added.

Concerning excess weight, one merchant here said that the American square bale has from 8 to 10 pounds excess weight in bagging and ties. "This is costly to the American shipper," he said. "It means $40,000 a year in freight to Great Britain alone on shipments on 2 per cent excess bagging basis, and more on shipments to Germany."

Three Ring Market.
Much to hold attention was observed on the visits to the Liverpool cotton exchange where trading is carried on about three rings on the floor, the American ring, the largest, the Egyptian ring and the Empire ring. Trading in cotton produced in British overseas dominions is carried on at the latter ring.

Near the Cotton Exchange building is a big square surrounded on three sides by the Exchange Place building. On this square, or flags, trading in cotton is carried on in the early days. The buyers stand in the open to conduct their business, retreating to the long covered corridors running around the building when rain interrupted the open air market. Old trade reports in the library of the Liverpool Cotton Association report sales of American cotton in Liverpool as far back as 1808.

And other sources of information report that in 1791 exports of American cotton to Liverpool totaled 189,500 pounds.

DATES ANNOUNCED FOR U. D. C. AND U. C. V. REUNIONS

Dates for the 1933 Daughters of the Confederacy convention, and the United Confederate Veterans reunions, both to be held in Houston, were announced Thursday by General M. J. Bonner, commander of the Texas division. The Daughters' convention will be held in Houston on October 17, according to Thursday's announcement, and the veterans will be held on November 8 and 9. Both of the meetings will be held at the Rice Hotel.

General Bonner said that attractive hotel and bus rates had been offered both the veterans and the daughters for their meetings, and that the daughters were urged to attend the reunion in as large numbers as possible.

Simon Daniels Received Two Car Loads Goodyear Tires This Week
You have to sell tires before you can stock new ones and have them brought in by the car load, that is exactly what Simon Daniels is doing only this week two full car loads were received.

One full car load was received from the Akron, Ohio, factory of Goodyear. It took three large moving vans to haul this over the highway, each van had a 7,000 pound load limit.

The other car load came over the S. P. Lines from Gadsden, Alabama factory of Goodyear. The two car loads consisted of approximately 2,000 Goodyear tires and several thousand tubes.

With these two car loads in stock Simon Daniels can boast of one of the largest tire stocks in the Southwest. The big warehouse is full of tires from front to end, and the Big Shot in the Tire racket, Leon Daniels, himself, says he is stocking up for a big fall and winter trade that he knows is coming. Mr. Daniels cordially invites the public to come in and look at this large stock of tires. There are very few people who have seen this many tires in one store at one time.

Simon Daniels has a trade in sale now on, and they are allowing large allowances for old tires, for which there is a large demand at the present time. It will pay you to see Simon Daniels if you are at all interested in new tires.

FARMERS SHOULD DEEPEN TANKS TO GET WATER SUPPLY

THE MODE SHOWS CONTRAST

Pattern 1620

by Anne Adams

Ample opportunities are available during this season of the year for farmers to insure themselves an ample supply of stock water for the next year according to C. C. Morris, county agricultural agent.

He asserts that a few days work with common farm implements will enable the farmer to have an ample supply for next year, and will eliminate much of the hauling or the driving of stock some distances for water which has been necessary in many parts of the country this year.

The county agent reported that recent studies made by water engineers have shown that the average farm tank has a four foot evaporation per year, and the shallowness of a majority of the tanks results in an inadequate water supply for this reason.

Mr. Morris suggested that the tanks should not be less than 8 feet deep unless they were fed by a stream. Deeper tanks also give greater purity and cleanliness of water he said. A tank large enough to insure ample water supply can be constructed for a nominal cost by the average farmer using his Fresno or plow and his own teams.

A tour of several pecan groves in Navarro county has been arranged for members of the Navarro County Pecan Growers Association and others interested, according to L. R. Nolen, president, and will start from the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon, October 7, at 1:30.

An invitation has been extended to all those interested in pecan culture to make the trip. Officers of the association state that the trees are almost ready for the harvest and the date is very appropriate for the study of the bearing qualities and size and weight and fruit of many of the varieties.

The pecan fanciers will first visit the Murphy Williams farm, then the Robert Cooksey farm, the W. S. Price farm near Kerens, and close with an inspection of the J. M. Blackburn groves.

IN ROMANTIC OLD DAMASCUS, FAMOUS BIGOT SAW THE LIGHT *

Personal Recollections of City of Shining Names—What Tourists There Ask to See First—Things That Count Take Place Within Souls of Individuals.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Any place where a man has been under the fire of artillery and infantry is certain to be memorable to him; and Damascus is one such city by my experience. I have visited Damascus often, and at varied seasons; but my most vivid impressions are of the day and night fighting, a few years ago, when the populace were in insurrection against French rule. At that time the French bombardment wrought great havoc in the center of the city.

Of course, the experience was nothing new for Damascus, however lively it may have been for this war correspondent, who thought he was forever through with the horrors of battle. This ancient city, which claims to be the oldest in the world, has witnessed wars beyond all count. It has been captured and sacked; and it has been the scene of great and dramatic events; chief among which must be rated the sensational experience of Saul of Tarsus, when he was blinded into spiritual sight.

Famous figures on a Great Stage: Abraham got his steward at Damascus. Mark Anthony gave the city to Cleopatra—how that gay gladiator romantic figure roared over the geography and history of the Near East! Mohammed refused to enter lovely Damascus, made manyfold lovelier because of its setting in the bare, brown desert, lest he should, Josephus tells us, be forced to restore his sight. At first, this devout disciple was incredulous; surely the Lord did not know what He was saying; so Ananias told him a few things about this notorious persecutor. Evidently, the habit of informing the Lord is no new fashion!

Gently, the bewildered Ananias was made to understand that God had been dealing with Saul, as well as with himself; and that he would find Saul praying. Divine cooperation always precedes Divine commandments.

There was nothing half-way about Ananias. When he took on a task, he put his whole heart into it. So we find him saluting the man whose name he had held in terror as "Brother Saul!" Thus we find Saul initiated into that great fellowship of friends of Jesus which he more than any other man, was destined to enrich and enlarge. His sight was restored, his desire for food came back, and he was strengthened for the adventures that lay ahead of him.

We cannot pass this phase of the story without mention of the helpful, friendly company which constitutes the Christian discipline. As it was in Damascus, so it is today everywhere. Christians are kind and charitable. They are the helpers of persons in need. They are the good neighbors in every community.

"Right About Face!" In Damascus, Saul's life changed completely. All the old qualities of the man Saul, a brilliant anti-Christian zealot, was on his way from Jerusalem to harry the Jewish converts in Damascus. As continued to be the case in the Near East until after the war, spiritual authority carried with it temporal power. The Sanhedrin at Jerusalem exercised sway over all Jews. Saul carried credentials empowering him to arrest and transport Jewish followers of the Way. Yet, of his coming had struck terror into the hearts of the Damascus disciples of Jesus.

A New Light at High Noon: As Saul's cavalcade approached Damascus, a sudden blinding light struck down the company. A voice accompanied it, intelligible only to Saul.

"Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?" "Who art Thou, Lord?" "I am Jesus, Whom thou persecutest. But rise, and enter into the city, and it will be told thee what thou must do."

Saul arose blind, but seeing.

"Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?" "Who art Thou, Lord?" "I am Jesus, Whom thou persecutest. But rise, and enter into the city, and it will be told thee what thou must do."

INJUNCTION STOPS INTERFERENCE WITH DANCE AT DAWSON

An injunction was granted Tuesday afternoon for S. Dawson against city and precinct officers at Dawson by Hawkins Scarborough, judge of the Thirteenth judicial district court, restraining and enjoining the officers from interfering with, threatening to prosecute the plaintiff or forceful closing of his place of business in Dawson.

The petition alleged that the plaintiff had gone to considerable expense and trouble in preparing a building in Dawson for skating and dancing and that the officers were allegedly planning to prevent him from staging an advertised dance at Dawson Tuesday night.

Officers named as defendants in the injunction proceedings were W. P. Johnson, mayor; Gus Davis, James Garner, John Ponder, and J. M. Beasley, aldermen of Dawson; Claude Putman, city marshal; and Billie Lawrence, constable of precinct 4.

The dance was held Tuesday night after the injunction was granted. Constable Billie Lawrence stated Wednesday while in Corsicana.

of ability and leadership and force remained; but he had executed a "right about face" instead of being a foe of Christ and the Christians. He became their defender, advocate and helper. Even the Christians could not credit it at first, but this convert began to proclaim Jesus in the Damascus synagogues; thereby stirring up a plot against his life, from which he escaped in a basket let down from the city wall at night.

Back to Jerusalem went the new Saul; and it needed the intervention of great-hearted Barnabas to make the Brotherhood receive this man whose very name frightened them. Again was repeated the Damascus experience of conspiracy against this redoubtable convert; and the Christians spirited him away to the seaport, whence he sailed for Tarsus, and a long period of preparation for his life work, including three years in the desert—probably the magnificent solitudes of Sinai.

ROMAN STANDING AND HIGH JUMPS

For years, the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus has boasted of its excellent horse flesh, both of its ring and draft steeds. This season it has gone a little farther in its determination to lead all other shows by the addition of highly pedigreed horses from foreign lands, to its canvas stables. Among these will be seen the famous of all liberty-horse acts—an offering in which forty-eight handsome stallions center at liberty through astounding evolutions in the three huge rings, to say nothing of the fifty-five snow-white steeds—the "resin-backs,"

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

A little leak will sink a great ship.—Old Proverb.

Don't get discouraged: it is often the last key of the bunch that opens the lock.—Anon.

Every day is a fresh beginning. Every morn is a world made new: You who are weary of sorrow and sinning.

Here is a beautiful hope for you.—A hope for me and a hope for you.

—Susan Coolidge.

Keep glad: it's the best way of serving God that was ever revealed.—George W. Cable.

But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition.—I Tim. 6:8, 9.

And this is the task before us: A task we may never shirk; In the gay time and the sorrowful time.

We must work, and do our work.—M. E. Sangster.

Be gentle, and you can be bold; Be frugal, and you can be liberal; avoid putting yourself before others, and you can become a leader among men.—Leo Tze.

—The International Sunday School Lesson for October 5 is "Saul in Damascus."—Acts 9:1-31.

used by the famous equestrian acts with the show this season, headed by the great Hanneford Family, featuring "Poodles" Hanneford, the world's greatest riding comique.

Added to the big liberty-horse display are the score of high-jumping horses, the groups of educated equines, and the thoroughbreds used in the Roman standing, chariot and jockey races being featured this year.

There are 650 horses with the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace show, which comes to Corsicana on Tuesday, Oct. 10, for afternoon and night performances.

TEXAS STATE FAIR READY TO OPEN ITS GATES ON SATURDAY

DALLAS, Oct. 4.—With the greatest agriculture, livestock and poultry shows on record entered and now being arranged, with more than 250 major manufacturers of plants of the state with their exhibits in place and with one of the best amusement programs in history of the organization all set, the 47th Annual State Fair of Texas will open its gates on next Saturday, October 7th, 1935.

Officers, directors, superintendents and others connected with the state exposition have gone many steps forward this year to give to Texas and the Southwest its greatest fair, Otto Herald, who is serving his second year as president, said here Monday.

The theme of the agriculture, livestock and poultry shows will be "Replacement programs" and will be carried throughout—suggested programs for replacement of cotton acres for three 1934 farmers. The Agriculture Department will show progress of diversification during the past 14 years with comparative exhibits: the livestock department will emphasize "utility livestock" and the poultry department will paint a picture of more food for the home by raising chickens.

Expect Revelation.

The Texas Manufacturers show is expected to be a revelation to the world, as it will show Texas factories manufacturing practically every kind of product necessary to the comfort and advancement of mankind in this state. This is expected to be the largest "made-in-Texas" show ever held in this state.

The amusement program will be headed by the three elaborate musical productions in the auditorium—"Bitter Sweet" Oct. 7 to 12; "Nina Rosa" Oct. 13 to 17; and "Florodora" Oct. 18 to 22.

Two Southwestern championship sport contests will be held at the State Fair of Texas—the cowboy championship to be held in the Livestock Arena, Oct. 7 to 18, and the motorcycle races which will be held under the sanction of the American Motorcycle association for the official championship of the Southwest. These races will be held in the stadium on each Sunday afternoon and night during the 1935 exposition.

Indict Coleman

County Farmers

In Kelly Case

DALLAS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The federal grand jury today indicted Will Casey and Cassie Earl Coleman, county farmers, charged with harboring George (Machine Gun) Kelly, and his wife, Kathryn.

William H. Atwell, federal court judge, ordered both cases transferred to the San Angelo division of the United States district court where he will try them at the next term of court.

In one indictment, Casey was alleged to have harbored Kelly August 20 and August 24, so as to prevent his arrest. Coleman was alleged to have harbored the Kellys August 16 and to have harbored George only August 17 and Sept. 9. Again on Sept. 11 he was accused of harboring the couple.

Both men were indicted for conspiracy to harbor the Kellys and the true bill set forth certain overt acts of conspiracy, including the charging of three $100 bills, the purchasing of sheets, pillows and other supplies.

Casey and Coleman were arrested in West Texas last week when department of justice agents from Dallas and other nearby cities raided Coleman's

Black-Draught Clears Up Sluggish Feeling

"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for constipation for a long time," writes Mrs. Frank Champion, of Wynne, Ark.

"I got up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, a dose of Black-Draught taken three times a day will cause the feeling to pass away, and in day or two I feel like a new person. After many years of use I would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine."

P. S.—If you have children, give them the new, pleasant-tasting SYRUP of Theodor's Black-Draught.

MOST DARING ACT IN THE WORLD

CLYDE BEATTY, WORLD FAMOUS TRAINER

In the most thrilling and breath-taking wild animal display in history, Clyde Beatty, the world's greatest wild animal trainer, is again electrifying in person, the vast audiences of the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus.

Clyde Beatty, the most fearless man of the age. The sight of him entering the great circular steel arena with forty wild and ferocious lions and tigers—fourteen tons of jungle fury, with only a whip and chain in hand to make the brutes work at his command, is a thrill never before offered in the land of sawdust and spangles.

He has experienced many narrow escapes from death, yet his greatest delight lies, it seems, in training newly imported beasts direct from the jungle, because they are more ferocious and treacherous. Over two-thirds of the animals used by Beatty this season are new arrivals from Africa and India.

Scores of other thrilling acts will be found on the lengthy program of the "Highest Class Circus on Earth" this season, coming to Corsicana on Tuesday, Oct. 10, and among them, the great "Bombay" The Man From India, the thrilling Billets, high-wire performers, and the Flying Hills and Clarkons, troupes of sensational acrobats. All together, over 100 acts, displays, and novelty numbers go to make the gigantic program.

Why Liquid Laxatives are Back in Favor

The public is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People learned that the properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative is varied to suit the needs of individual. The action can be regulated. A child is easily given right dose. And mild liquid laxatives do not irritate the kidneys.

Doctors are generally agreed that senna is the best laxative for the body. Senna is a natural laxative. It does not drain the system like cathartics that leave you so tired. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a liquid laxative which relies on its laxative action. It has average person's bowels as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time.

You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore, for use. Member N. R. A.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest.)

AT THE CLOSE.

Not that I shall die rich or very great.

I'd rather when the journey ends

Have a few flowers, sent by friends,

Than have my coffin body lie

In state.

I want no mounted guardsmen at my gate.

To drive away the poor man who attends,

For I shall need the humble prayer he sends.

That God have mercy as He scrolls my fate.

A few true tears are all the praise

I'd ask.

From those who've known me

best and understood.

Just to be missed from my accustomed task.

A little while will mark my labor good.

Just to be spoken of when old friends meet.

Will change to victory many a sad defeat.

WILD LIFE INCREASING

Uncle Sam's latest big game "census" is out. While the accuracy of the figures is not guaranteed, the experience of forest rangers and others in estimating the number of animals in particular areas makes the report far more than the result of mere guess-work.

The total number of big game animals in the 148

national forests is placed at 1,163,141, which represents an approximate increase of 40 per cent since 1926. This increase was not a steady one, as the latest total was slightly lower than the 1931 figures.

While most of the big game continue to be found in the national forests, wild life is being gradually increased in certain states under protection and planned management, it is disclosed.

This is a reflection of growing shown by individual

ing shown by individual

States.

It is interesting to note

the grizzly bears in national forests showed a gratifying increase in the latest census, their number being placed at 5,164 as against

3,747 for the preceding year. In Alaska, however, the total dropped from 747 to 664. The total of black and brown bears is 52,331, an increase from 50,496.

Although elk were reported increasing in the national forests of the West, only about 60 remained in the forests of the East. Especially gratifying to hunters will be the large increase reported among deer.

The preservation of America's wild life very properly is claiming important attention from the federal government. The duty, however, is one which should not be confined to the national government. States, likewise, should interest themselves in the matter.

Many are doing this. It's a worthwhile work.

an effort will be made to find these. The rail and water companies have given their approval to his efforts and have announced their readiness to co-operate with the co-ordinator. As an initial step, they have agreed to give public notice of any contemplated rate change together with the reasons.

This, it was believed, would go far in preventing rate wars.

Complete co-ordination can not be obtained without the establishment of joint rates. Past efforts in this direction have been unsuccessful, due large to the attitude taken by the railroads that the concessions required of them would be too great. According to Mr.

Eastman, however, they now are "disposed to concede

GLOOM OVERSHADOWS GRIFFITH STADIUM FOR THIRD GAME

WEATHER AS DREARY AS ENTHUSIASM OF CAPITAL FANS ON THURSDAY

BY EDWARD J. NEIL Associated Press Sports Writer. GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—Dark and dreary as the Senators prospects are, the setting today for the third game of the world series at the home of the groggy American league champions after winning the first two games in New York.

Overhead the skies were lowering, threatening any moment to spill rain down on the tiny vanguard of the Capital that led the straggling march on the Griffith stadium.

The cheerfulness of the weather, the precariousness of the situation that beset Joe Cronin's athletes, combining with wholesale reports of lack of interest among those who were expected to be fighting to buy tickets, added to the general gloom.

The band that grouped back of home plate, doing the best it could for the early arrivals, hit the keynote of the situation either by accident or design when it swung into "stormy weather" for its opening effort, and then worked back to the same refrain at every opportunity.

The Senators with Joe Cronin's lantern jaw sticking out a fresh inch, were about early, a fresh, determined looking lot with little to say. The lack of enthusiasm on their arrival here last night hasn't abated spirits considerably deflated by left handed Carl Hubbell and the young right hand sinker ball heaver, Hal Schumacher, who in two victories, the first 4 to 2, the second 6 to 1, have allowed the ball-dodging American leaguers to easily earn runs and ten hits.

Only ancient "Goose" Goslin, who knocked one of Schumacher's fast curves into the right field stands at the Polo Grounds yesterday, has been able to get an extra base hit for the Senators. His lone effort went for naught when "General" Alvin Karpis ran into a machine gun barrage in the eighth inning, and six runs on eight clean hits and settled that issue then and there.

To Use Whitehill. "I'm sticking to Earl Whitehill for the pitching," said Cronin quietly, "and we'll win behind him. This can't keep going on. We're not whipped by any means."

The hilarious Giants are floundering at a four-game sweep during the world series history back to the triumph of the Boston Braves over the Philadelphia Athletics in 1914 and the fight the way the American league representatives have held over the inter league clashes through heavy hitting in recent years.

Terry stuck to his choice of Fat Slim Simmons as his starting pitcher, though there was a terrific temptation to use "Archie" (Archie) Farnie, the young fireballer, into the fray. The dark day was just made for Farnie's cast ball and terrific curve, but the youngsters have been none too sure of himself, and breaking the wrists of two hitters with curves that got away from him in the closing stretch of the National league campaign. His control is none too good at best.

HURRICANE

(Continued From Page One) ported since the disturbance passed near Key West between midnight and 3 a. m., but weather conditions and disrupted communications made an immediate check impossible.

At 6 a. m. Key West reported a slowly rising barometer, abating winds, lessening rains and a general clearing of weather. The wind at that hour was blowing 42 miles an hour from the north-northwest with the barometer registering 29.91.

Full gale winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour swept Key West during the night, the barometer falling to a low of 29.89. The weather bureau there said it was believed the center of the storm passed to the west of the city. Miami reported a 30-mile an hour northwesterly wind, the barometer reading 29.17 at 8 a. m., with rain falling. The weather bureau there said the lack of rain during the night made it impossible to determine the course of the storm, but believed it was approaching near the Miami area. Weather conditions here are steadily growing worse with Miami having experienced gale winds. The Miami bureau reported.

Tampico Situation Bad

TAMPICO, Mexico, Oct. 5. (AP)—Problems of the sanitation arising from a hurricane ten days ago and subsequent floods became increasingly serious to order the evacuation of 4,000 refugees to lighten the task of caring for more than 7,000 additional homeless. Medical authorities awaited the arrival from Dallas of an emergency chlorination apparatus which they hoped could make possible a pure water supply. Food supplies ran low, but a train with provisions was expected today from the United States.

Storm Warning

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—The weather bureau this morning issued the following storm warning: "Storm warnings changed to southwest Key West, Key West Jupiter and on west coast of Florida central about forty miles south southeast of Miami moved northeastward attended by dangerous gales will cause strong sea force at times reaching to northwest late this afternoon or tonight Boca Grande to Florida Keys and northeast shifting to North gales today and shifting to Florida Keys to Jupiter. Northeast storm warnings ordered north of Jupiter to Titusville strong northeast winds this afternoon with shift to north by 10 p. m."

Forty Great Lumbering Elephants Coming With Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus

If you judge a circus by its elephants, then you are certain to form an excellent opinion of the Great Hagenbeck-Wallace show, for its pachyderms—40 in number this season—are actors, the same as are ninety-nine out of every hundred animals with the show, with the exception of the hundreds of draft horses. They do their bit by transferring the huge allures of the circus to the "Cheerful" Gardner, master elephant trainer, is the man responsible for the high intelligence of the great herds. ## PRESIDENT PLEADED AFTER VISIT TO CHICAGO WHERE HE ADDRESSED LEGION MEETING

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON Associated Press Staff Writer

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 3. (AP)—President Roosevelt hustled back to New York City today, happy over his reception in Chicago, but with an ever watchful eye on troubled Cuba.

He goes into New York to keep a long standing engagement to talk before the conference of Catholic charities and in this speech he is prepared to carry further his exposition of the "new deal" tomorrow night.

Throughout the night ride from the Metropolis of the Mid-West, Mr. Roosevelt kept contact over long distance telephone at each stop with Washington, particularly as related to Cuba.

Still ringing in his ears were the cheers of Chicago and the convention of the American Legion before which he backed up his new relations with the veterans yesterday in a heart to heart talk with his "comrades" of 1918.

In a brief speech to the crowd which swarmed about his special train last night at Elkhart, Indiana, the president said:

GRAND JURY NO BILLS EIGHT MURDEROUS CONVICTS BECAUSE OF UNPAID BILLS BY STATE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 3. (AP)—The New Orleans item said today that Gov. O. K. Allen was considering convening a military court to try a group of convicts who participated in the recent bloody riot at the prison farm, for whom "no bills" were returned yesterday by a West Feliciana parish grand jury.

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La., Oct. 3. (AP)—Eight surviving convicts of the 12 who figured in the bloody Louisiana Angola penal farm break on September 10, were free today of charges of murder because a West Feliciana parish grand jury returned "no true bills" on the indictments against them.

The grand jury also no-billed the indictment against Eunice McDine, who was held in jail in New Orleans on charges of being an accessory because she smuggled a gun into the prison farm, James Russell, her common-law husband.

Two prison officers a trusty guard and four of the convicts involved in the spectacular dash for freedom were killed.

The no-bills were returned without a hearing by the grand jury yesterday. Parish officials as well as R. L. Himes, general manager of the penitentiary, refused to comment on the action.

The question of financing the trial of the convicts was raised soon after the murder charges were filed. West Feliciana parish officials contend that the state still owes the parish $4,000 for expenses incurred in trying convicts involved in the break in 1925. Sheriff Fred C. Wilcox of West Feliciana notified General Manager Himes that three of the recaptured convicts, held at Baton Rouge, are no longer in his custody. He also notified New Orleans authorities to release Eunice McDine.

Sheriff Wilcox said the three prisoners at Baton Rouge, J. C. Bird, James Dear and Bill Bryant, "belonged to the state penitentiary," and he would "not be longer responsible for the keep of the prisoners in the parish jail there."

SPECIAL TRAIN TO BRING EAST TEXAS FANS HERE FRIDAY

COOLER WEATHER CAUSED JOY AMONG FOOTBALL ASPIRANTS THIS WEEK

With the Tyler and East Texas fans coming in droves on a Cotton Belt special train and with others planning on motoring here over Highway 31, indications Thursday morning were that the seating capacity of Tiger field would be taxed at the battle between Corsicana and Tyler. Chagrined at the repeated loss of the hands of the Bengals, and encouraged with the fine showing of the Lions in their early season combats, the Tyler adherents, always noted for their loyal support to their team, have visions of securing revenge for their decisive drubbing suffered at the hands of the Navarro county crusaders in 1931 and 1932.

The two teams have scouted the other in the early season and have been busy this week trying to perfect defenses which will nullify the scoring efforts of the opposition.

A special Cotton Belt Lines train will leave Tyler shortly after 5 o'clock Friday afternoon for Corsicana. The train was originally scheduled to leave at 4:30 o'clock in the morning, but has been changed upon the request of Tyler merchants in order that the merchants and their employees can attend the special instead of being forced to motor over after the game.

Admission charges will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Student tickets are being sold at the office of O. P. Douglas, principal of Corsicana high school. No student ticket will be on sale at the field Friday evening. Students will enter the south-east corner gate at Tiger field and the football game will start at 7:30 p. m. The main entrance gate, or Fifth avenue entrance, will be the main entrance gate.

Reports out of Athens are to the effect that there will be plenty of Henderson county fans in the stands at the kick-off Friday night. There is plenty of rivalry between Athens and Corsicana and the Athens sportsmen will be in the stands to see the battle.

Cooler weather has greeted Coaches John A. Pierce of Corsicana and Rufus King of Tyler this week and strenuous practice sessions were given their charges as they try to whip into shape the strongest combination possible. Coach Pierce is urged to greater efforts by the fact that his club is the defending state champion of the interscholastic league and also because Tyler is his old home town and that Tyler has never scored on a team he coached.

Tyler is optimistic over the prospects in the district race this season and desires to secure revenge for the decisive drubbing heaped upon them by the charging Bengals last fall.

Coach Pierce sent Joe Redders to fullback in the Monday and Tuesday afternoon practice sessions, but he was back at end Wednesday.

Tiger Mentor Worried. The Tiger mentor was pessimistic Thursday morning for the first time this season. He stated the Bengals had not looked good in practice this week as a result of the tough Highland Park game last Friday night. A number of players were bruised and otherwise injured in that melee and plainly showed the effects of their injuries during the early part of the week. Pierce frankly fears the Lions attack for Friday evening.

The game Friday night should be well-officiated with Benjie L. Boynton (Hillman and Mary), referee; Gilliland (Texas A. and M. College), umpire; Bud Price (Austin College), head linesman; and Louie Long (S.M.U.), field judge, in charge.

The probable starting lineup for Corsicana will be: Spence or Langston and Jones, ends; Aston and McPherson, tackles; Burnett and Harshey, guards; Cullough, center; Sharp, quarter; Smith, fullback.

Check Is Sent To State Board Pay Off Bonds

A check for $63,063.50 was sent to the State board of county and district road indebtedness by J. M. Tullos, Navarro county auditor for consolidated Road District No. 1, to pay the road district's portion of the interest and principal of the $76,000, maturing bonds April 1 which were defaulted after the state was unable to pay as originally planned.

The local road district's part was $81,060.94 principal and $2,003.55 interest since the maturity. The state's part is $14,939. With the sending of this check to the state board and the taking up of the defaulted bonds, all road districts in Navarro county are now up with principal and interest at the present time, County Auditor Tullos stated.

Consolidated Road District No. 1 would not have defaulted the $76,000 due April 1 had local officials known that the state would be unable to meet the first announced percentage of the bonds, but a decline in revenue to the state necessitated the lowering of the amount for the maturing bonds. It was the levying of the taxes in Consolidated Road District No. 1 was made to care for only the amount stated by the Texas legislature and the money for the additional called for was not available April 1.

place they were given to me," he said. Earl Joyner, another of the convicts, was recently recaptured in Hot Springs, Ark., and is now facing trial in bank robbery charges in Crockett, Tex. Others for whom "no true bills" were entered, and who are still at large, are Cleo Carlson, Dallas Hunter, Charles Frazier and Walter Henderson.

All the convicts still have long terms to serve at the penitentiary.

How They Look This Week. Corsicana 13; Tyler 8. Athens 6; Denison 0. Waco 7; Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) 13.

Jack Flynn, state boxing and wrestling commissioner, announced the receipts from license fees and gross receipts in Texas amounted to $9,581.42 during September, the first month under the new boxing and wrestling laws. The receipts of the other months will be larger as the first one due to the fact that the license fee will not be large as the promoters and contestants will practically all have their licenses, leaving only the gross receipts taxes.

The stock of the Texas Aggies in the approaching Southwest conference race took a decided upward swing following their sensational 13-6 victory over the Tulane eleven in Louisiana. The Aggies will meet the Sam Houston Teachers this week in a practice tilt.

The Aggies have reserve strength, a close defense and past experience, according to the performance of the club in its first two games of the season.

The Aggie mentors have two experienced men to place in the line for several half barrels of fire at any position, enabling the coaches to send their team at full speed all of the time, replacing the men when they tire, and wearing down any opposition by the use of sending in fresh performers.

Bohn Hilliard, slashing sensational back of the Texas Longhorns, will probably bear the brunt of the Longhorn defense. Longhorns against the Nebraska Cornhuskers in Lincoln, Neb. ## BEER SELLERS IN CORSICANA AND COUNTY RAPPED BY JUDGE IN CHARGING NEW GRAND JURY

"You can't tell me that a man can openly sell 500 or 600 bottles of beer a day and do our best to enforce the law," Judge Scarborough charged the investigators after referring to the fact that Navarro county had voted against 32 beer in the August election.

In the beginning of his charge, Judge Scarborough reminded the grand jurors that the present jury was his fiftieth to empanel since he had been on the bench. The statutes against "bawdy houses" and gambling were called to the attention of the jurors.

"There is only one thing to do," he said, "to respect the vote of the people and do our best to enforce the law." Judge Scarborough charged the investigators after referring to the fact that Navarro county had voted against 32 beer in the August election.

The court said he believed that the Eighteenth amendment had the foundation for the rearing up of gangsters and other lawless elements and that they grew out of a contempt of the liquor laws which had not been voted by the people.

Local option liquor laws are different and liquor continues to be sold in Navarro county, he said, and he hoped the grand jurors would have the courage to vote for the laws which had not been voted by the people.

"Those fellows are saying 'I'm bigger than the law.' Get on them with both feet," Judge Scarborough ordered. S. C. Crews of Corsicana was named for man of the grand jury. Others are R. L. ## PRESIDENT PRAISES RESPONSE TO RECOVERY PROGRAM; URGES THE SPIRIT OF NEIGHBORLINESS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5. (AP)—President Roosevelt returned to Washington today after a tour of the recovery program in the recovery campaign. He delivered his second speech in three days last night before the national conference of Catholic Charities, calling upon the people to redouble their relief efforts for the harder part still ahead.

"We have to have courage and discipline and vision to blaze the new trails in the recovery work," he said. "We have to have the conviction that men cannot live unto themselves alone. A democracy must neighbor together by the ties of sympathy and common sense."

Nothing it was seven months to the day since he had assumed the presidency, the chief executive recalled he had said in his inaugural address that "the only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

"I believed then—and I know now—that our people would give the spirit of recovery every man his due. Leadership has been given, but the great and most important fact has been the response of the wholehearted response of the American people who have rekindled our pioneering spirit. We

STRIKE SITUATION MARKED BY SEVERAL TROUBLOUS SPOTS

By The Associated Press.

Troops and state police moved to preserve order and prevent violence today as tension increased in spreading trouble spots of American industry.

At Harrisburg, Ill., four companies of national guards were ordered into Saline county as clashes broke out between warring mine factions.

Two terrific bomb explosions climaxed a night of terror in the southern Illinois coal fields, and at Peabody Mine No. 48 officials reported that pickets had surrounded the workings and opened fire and that many persons had been wounded.

In western Pennsylvania, state police and deputy sheriffs hastened to strategic points as striking miners threatened picket lines and announced a determination to prevent reopening of soft coal mines closed for three weeks in a fight for union recognition.

Two steel workers were slashed by a falling beam as they attempted to enter the Clairton, Pa., plant of the Carnegie Steel company. It was the second outburst in 18 hours among steel strikers, one having been shot and others clubbed at Ambridge, Pa., earlier.

At Scranton, Pa., the ninth dynamiting in an "anthracite" strike damaged the home of a miner, while workers' automobiles were stoned by pickets at Dickson City.

Ford Motor company strikers of Chester, Pa., and Edgewater, N. J., announced plans for a "march" by automobile on the Ford plant at Detroit.

BY L. R. LINDGREN PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5. (AP)—Violence broke out anew today in the Tri-State industrial area as strikers spread and mine pickets tightened their lines, grimly determined to strangle production.

Two men were clubbed by pickets outside the Spanghake Seamless Tube company's plant in Ambridge.

Several hundred pickets prevented a group from going to work at the Latrobe Electric Steel company's mill in Latrobe.

In Greensburg, two men and two women were arrested for creating a disturbance at the gates of the Latrobe company's plant. State troopers armed with riot sticks and tear gas guns, opened a lane through 1,000 pickets and about 150 company's normal force of 100 entered.

There was widespread back-to-the-mine movement today, but about 500 men resumed work in three pits in the Burgettstown district.

An elderly man tried to get through the picket line at Ambridge and was felled by a club. He apparently was not seriously hurt. Another worker was clubbed while trying to leave the plant.

"I believe now it is not against the law to transport and possess, but is against the law to manufacture and sell."

The court said he believed that the Eighteenth amendment had the foundation for the rearing up of gangsters and other lawless elements and that they grew out of a contempt of the liquor laws which had not been voted by the people.

Local option liquor laws are different and liquor continues to be sold in Navarro county, he said, and he hoped the grand jurors would have the courage to vote for the laws which had not been voted by the people.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 5. (AP)—National guard troops were ordered into Saline county this morning by Lieutenant Colonel Robert W. Davis after picketing miners along a 5-mile front had been accused by pickets of jamming railroad switch blocks with railroad ties.

A sudden, threatening crowd of miners and steel workers picketed the Clairton works of the Carnegie Steel company. About 150 men were on the picket lines, which appeared to be growing steadily. One man was stabbed and another beaten and slashed last night.

A large police escort accompanied the picket lines at the Steubenville, O., plant of the Weirton Steel company and went to work.

Negro on Trial Charged Murder Man and Woman

PORT WORTH, Oct. 5. (AP)—A verbal picture of a scene, where a man and a woman found slain beside a stretch of Samuels Avenue, summer was drawn by witnesses as the trial of Frank Simmons, 23-year-old driver, got under way in district court today.

Simmons is charged with slaying of A. S. (Pete) Williams, 33 and Geneva Cantrell, 33, with attack on Miss Cantrell, though the present trial is the slaying of Miss Cantrell.mons pleaded "not guilty" arraigned, indicating that the case would attempt to reopen the negro's case session made after his arrest.

The double slaying is believed to have taken place some between midnight and 3 a. m. of July 28. J. M. Huchabee, 32, said he saw the couple shortly before midnight and their bodies as he passed same spot about 6 hours later.

The foreign-born lawyer, who announced his decision today, a brief conference with the state attorney general, and several hours examination of the case in the protracted market investigation. He would accept the nomination provided he was given the chance to continue his work with the mittie.

Strengthening Of Defense Is Urged

CHICAGO, Oct. 5. (AP)—strengthening of the country's defense was recommended for action by the American Legion today.

The recommendation was made in a committee report which brought out only that the Legion of 14,000 officers and 150,000 men, but that America's navy be built up to the limits provided for by the London naval treaty.

Definite action on this and other questions of national affairs, and the election of a new national commander, were all that remained for the nation's defense. The committee was to assemble before adjourning to meet next year in Miami, Fla.

As the time for selecting a successor to National Commander Louis Johnson drew near, seven of the candidates vying for his place declared they were in the race, hopeful of success. They were Edward A. Hayes, of Illinois; George W. Malone, Nevada; Ray Murphy, Iowa; Samuel Reynolds, Nebraska; Gen. William A. Reckord, Maryland; Louis Brandon, Mississippi; and Rufus Betha of Alabama.

The Legion's committee on foreign relations declared against the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations or the World Court, with or without reservations. The cancellation of the war debts was also opposed.

The Black and Red Drum and Bugle Corps of Chicago, Ill., was victorious over 11 other units, including the 1933 champions of Salem, Ore., and the 55-piece Marlboro unit and prize money of $750 and $500 went to Uniontown, Pa., and Erie, Pa., respectively.

In band contests, the Marlboro unit, representing the Black and Red Drum and Bugle Corps, was adjudged first place in drill team contests went to East Lynn, Mass.

Today, in his office, he gave a glimpse of the ideals of his campaign. "New York is a wonderful city, but it can't go on being that way under a systematic looting by party bosses. They must be wiped out and New York made in every respect a great, wonderful, beautiful city."

He married his secretary because he figured he couldn't get along without her. Their home life is placid and happy.

Jailer Testifies of Escape by Bailey

an assistant district attorney, Bevill said he had a telephone conversation with Manion Aug. 27 and together they drove south of Dallas.
"He (Manion) said he could put over a deal to make $250 and would give me $125," the witness said.
Bevill said he took Manion from the latter's home to the county jail in his car and that Manion asked him to get a gun and some saw blades. He said he obtained them and delivered them to Manion in front of Manion's home.
Told of Bailey's Escape.
The witness said that on the day Bailey escaped, Manion called him early in the morning and told him that Bailey had gone.
Later he went to Manion's home.
Together they went to the jail for a few minutes then drove to Denton, 40 miles northwest of Dallas.
Bailey was captured four hours
after his escape at Ardmore, Okla., 115 miles northwest of Dallas.
Bevill's testimony paralleled closely the government's theory that Bevill obtained the hacksaw blades Bailey used to cut the bars of his cell and a pistol, gave them to Manion and that Manion was responsible for them reaching the prisoner.
Chester Griffin, a prisoner at the time of the escape, was sent to the stand by the government in an effort to show that Manion took the escape pistol into the jail.
Manion Had Pistol.
He said that "one night" as he sat on his bunk, he heard a noise and saw Manion enter the jail.
He said that he saw Manion take the pistol into the jail.

The first inning of the opening game of the world series produced a hero in the person of Mel Ott, Giants' right fielder. Here he is crossing the plate after clouting a home run, scoring Moore.

his nickel-plated pistol off the table.
The defense spent most of its efforts in an attempt to show that a trusty in the county jail, who went through the building selling candy and cigarettes, had a key to the room in which was located Bailey's cell.
Morrow said Bailey marched them all into the elevator by changing his mind and ordered them into a padded cell near the elevator. Bailey then locked the front gate between the elevator and the jail office and took the negro trusty on the elevator with him.
When Morrow called for help trustees released him. He said he did not find a wrench or back-saw blades in Bailey's cell when he inspected it. The government has charged that the blades were used to cut through the bars of Bailey's cell.
Douglas Walsh, superintendent of the Dallas police department, the first witness, identified several pictures which he took of the death cell and its surroundings about three hours after Bailey had escaped.

First Inning:
Giants—President Roosevelt threw out the first ball. In a wild scramble Heinie Manush captured it. The sun came out after a hard rain as the players took the field fifteen minutes late. Moore filed to Goslin in foul territory. Critz bounded out to Bluege to Kuhel. Terry grounded out Myer to Kuhel. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Senators—Myer singled to left field. Goslin doubled against the right field fence on the first pitch. Myer going to third. Ma-nush skied out to Ryan. Cronin bounced to Fitzsimmons and was out at first. Myer scoring and Goslin taking second. Fitzsimmons made a difficult stop but dropped the ball and could not make a play at the plate. Schulte doubled to right, scoring Goslin.
Kuhel bounced to Jackson and Schulte was run down between second and third. Jackson to Critz. To runs, three hits, no errors, none left.
Second Inning:
Giants—Manush made a sensational running catch of Ott's hard smash. Davis singled past Bluege. Davis took second on a wild pitch. Jackson walked.
Mancuso hit into a double play.
Critz to Myer to Kuhel. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.
Senators—Bluege doubled down the left field line. Sewell bounced out Critz to Terry.
Buege taking third. Whitehill grounded to Fitzsimmons who threw to third but failed to catch Bluege. Whitehill reached first on a fielder's choice. Myer doubled along the first base line, scoring Bluege. Whitehill pulled up at third. Goslin filed to Moore who threw Whitehill out at home. On run, two hits, no errors, one left.
Third Inning:
Giants—Ryan looped to Myer who made a spectacular catch in short right center. Fitzsimmons bounced a hit off Cronin's arm.
Moore forced Fitzsimmons, Cronin to Myer. Critz singled over second. Moore going to third.
Terry grounded out to Kuhel unassisted. No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.
Senators—Manush grounded out Ryan to Terry. Cronin dribbled an easy grounder to Critz and was an easy out at first. Schulte singled past Terry. Kuhel forced Schulte, Jackson to Critz. Na
runs, one hit, no errors, none left.
Fourth Inning:
Giants—Ott fanned and the crowd roared. Davis rolled out Myer to Kuhel. Jackson doubled to left center. Mancuso filed to Schulte. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.
Senators—Bluege grounded out Ryan to Terry. Sewell filed to Davis. Whitehill fouled out to Moore. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Fifth Inning:
Giants—Whitehill made a leaping one-hand stop and threw Ryan out at first. Fitzsimmons grounded out. Bluege to Kuhel, who made a nice catch on a wide throw. Moore bunted and was out Whitehill to Kuhel. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Senators—Myer fanned, taking a called third strike with the count three-two. Goslin filed to Davis. Manush filed to Ott. No
runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Sixth Inning:
Giants—Critz grounded out Bluege to Kuhel. Terry grounded out to Kuhel unassisted. Ott fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Senators—Whitehill had made only eleven pitches in two innings, four in the fifth and seven in the sixth. Cronin singled to right. Schulte fouled to Terry.
Critz made a back handed circus stop and threw to Ryan forcing Cronin on Kuhel's roller. Kuhel was thrown out trying to steal.
Mancuso to Ryan. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.
Seventh Inning:
Giants—Davis went out easily Whitehill to Kuhel. Jackson bunted foul and then filed to Manush. Mancuso grounded out Bluege to Kuhel. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Senators—Whitehill used only six pitches in the seventh inning. Bluege popped to Terry on Fitzsimmons' seventh pitch to him. Sewell got a single when Ryan failed to stop his slow dribbler. Whitehill tried to bunt, missed the ball and Mancuso threw to first. The ball got away from Terry and Sewell

EGGS AND CASTLE

CHEAP, EFFECTIVE TREATMENTS

Miss Forbes gives you a detailed outline for a scalp and face treatment, which will cost you practically nothing, but which is very beautiful for the hair and the complexion.

Do you want to give yourself a marvelous shampoo, and a splendid face treatment at the same time, neither to cost you much money? Then buy yourself a cake of the very purest castle soap, and take an egg from the kitchen, get a couple of bowls ready, and allow yourself an hour or so of time.

Melt the castle soap to a syrup, by adding it to boiling water—a small cake makes at least a pint of syrup, usually more, and will last you for more than this one treatment. Add two tablespoons of vinegar to a quart of warm water, and set this ready. Separate the yolk and the white of the egg. Now you are ready.

Rub the yolk of the egg into the scalp and let it dry. If a little of the white sticks to it, no matter, the white part is also good for the scalp, and the face treatment does not need all of the white, but only half to three-quarters of it. Let the egg dry on the scalp, which will take perhaps 15 minutes, less if you stand in the sun. Then rinse this off with warm water. Follow by soaping the hair four times with the castle soap liquid, rinsing of each soaping. Then rinse several times with clear water, first hot, then warm, then cool. Finally, pour over the hair the last trace of soap from the hair. While the hair is wet, comb it as you like to wear it, and put a cap shaped net loosely over it to hold it.

Now, rub your face with cleansing cream, wipe this off and smear the rest of the egg white over the skin. Lie down flat on your back for 15 or 20 minutes. Let this dry on the skin. It will draw up all the lax muscles, it will smooth out the wrinkles. It will make your face feel taut, but this goes when you wash off the egg white and use cream again on the skin.

S. L.—The most you will be able to do yourself to remove the brown scars left from pimples, will be to touch up the spots with peroxide every few days. Use the point of your orangewood stick, or something similar, and wrap a tiny bit of absorbent cotton around it before dipping it into the peroxide. The reason for taking all this care, is that the peroxide spreads over the skin and will not only bleach it in an unnatural way, but it will make the skin scaly and sore when used continuously. If the peroxide doesn't clear off the discolorations, you should have a skin specialist care for the trouble, or just wait for nature to make the recovery for you. Most cases of pimples are the result of injury to the lower layer of the skin, and that is one reason why bleaches do very little for them. You will salvage them of yourself, given time and good care of the skin to keep it active and also clear of further attacks of pimples; in the meantime cover the places with powder.

ROBERT CAMPBELL TAKEN PENITENTIARY TUESDAY MORNING

Robert W. Campbell of Dallas was conveyed to the Texas Penitentiary Tuesday morning by Bud Russell, veteran penitentiary agent to serve two concurrent two-year sentences for burglary and assault of a person with prohibited weapon.

Campbell entered pleas of guilty, July 18, before Special District Judge W. W. Harris. Mr. Russell was conveying several prisoners from Dallas and Fort Worth.

Campbell was tried in connection with the alleged kidnapping of the Blooming Grove nightwatchman and the burglarizing of a store there several months ago. The defendant was given a two-year suspended sentence earlier this year on an indictment for attempt to commit arson in connection with the attempt to burn the Star-Light Publishing company here last fall, but the suspended sentence has not been revoked and added to the sentence in the later cases.

HOUSE PASSES NEW HORSE RACING BILL TUESDAY MORNING

NOT ENOUGH MARGIN MAKE BILL EFFECTIVE AT ONCE; TO SENATE NEXT

AUSTIN, Oct. 3. (AP)—The Texas house of representatives today passed a bill that would re-enact and make stronger a law that legalizes the certificate plan of wagering on horse races.

The horse racing law had been on the statute books only since 1927. For many years prior to its enactment betting on horse races has been prohibited.

Some question had been raised, however, as to the constitutionality of the original law, because it had been attached as a rider to an appropriation bill after the house had voted against a bill proposing legalization and regulation of the industry.

The new bill also would make it lawful to bet on dog races. The house failed to give the bill the 100 votes required to put it into effect immediately upon passage by both houses and its approval by the governor. The vote was 80 to 40. Should it receive the two-thirds majority in each house it would not become effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourns.

However, the law now on the statute books would obtain. Under its terms, however, the state would not receive as much revenue from licenses and permits as the new bill provides.

It was likely the senate would amend the bill in some particular, thus giving the house another chance to enact it with 100 votes. It would come back for concurrence if altered by the upper house.

The bill was amended on final passage to provide that one-fourth the revenue produced from the new law would be available for the state school fund after payment of the state's share of the expenses of the state racing commission are paid.

AUSTIN, Oct. 3. (AP)—Two bills proposing a new state constitution were introduced today in the Texas house of representatives.

One bill, introduced by Representative George C. Heston, of Georgetown, proposed to amend the constitution to provide for a state school fund after payment of the state's share of the expenses of the state racing commission are paid.

The other bill, introduced by Representative George C. Heston, of Georgetown, proposed to amend the constitution to provide for a state school fund after payment of the state's share of the expenses of the state racing commission are paid.

CHARRED BODIES OF UNEMPLOYED RELIEF WORKERS RECOVERED

THIRTY-SIX KNOWN DEAD AND HUNDRED WERE IN HOSPITALS WEDNESDAY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4. (AP)—With thirty-six bodies recovered and county officials reporting that the fire swept 1,000 acre tract in Mineral Wells canyon holds from 20 to 25 additional victims of yesterday's brush fire, police today took in custody the suspect who had been in the area.

The suspect, Robert D. Barr, 29, an unemployed motion picture projectionist, was traced through the license number of an automobile which was reported to police to have been parked near the scene of the fire. Witnesses, whose names police did not reveal, were reported to have told police they saw a man leave the automobile enter the canyon and set fire to the brush.

When arrested, Barr had several kerosene-soaked rags in his possession, police said. He made no statement to them.

The arson angle into the investigation of the blaze was injected after police had been working on the theory that a cigarette tossed into the brush by one of the victims had caused the fire.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4. (AP)—Grim-faced searchers today resumed the fire-seared walls of a canyon in Griffith Park, from which charred bodies had been recovered, expecting to bring back the remains of at least 20 more unemployed relief workers who were trapped in a brush fire yesterday afternoon.

Approximately 100 men were injured seriously in the mad scramble up the sides of the box-like canyon that became a raging inferno when a strong wind fanned the flames. The victims were attempting to extinguish.

Robert D. Barr, 29, an unemployed motion picture projectionist, was arrested by police and booked for suspicion of arson.

He was charged with the arson because of an automobile which had been parked near the scene where the blaze started and from which a man had been seen to enter the canyon and report to the police.

Police said they found rags soaked with kerosene on the man when he was arrested. Barr made no statement to police.

He has a police record of having been arrested for arson in 1927. He was charged with the arson because of an automobile which had been parked near the scene where the blaze started and from which a man had been seen to enter the canyon and report to the police.

First theories of the origin of the fire were that a carelessly tossed cigarette was responsible. Throughout the night thousands of relatives of the more than 400 workers on the roads of the park, crowded about the county morgue and a hastily improvised mortuary.

A cordon of police was required to hold them in check as they watched through the windows of the long string of stretchers carried through the doors.

Lack of Experience Blamed. Frank Merrill, superintendent of Griffith Park, blamed the tragedy on the lack of experience of the workers. He said they were not properly trained in the use of the tools they were given.

ATTORNEY GENERAL FILES SUIT ENFORCE CUT IN GAS RATE

LONE STAR GAS COMPANY DEFENDANT IN SUIT FILED IN TRAVIS COUNTY

AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (AP)—The attorney general's department filed suit today in Travis county district court against the Lone Star Gas company to enforce an order of the Texas Railroad commission reducing rates to consumers of natural gas serviced by the company.

The commission, after an investigation decided that the "gate" rate of 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet charged by the company should be reduced to 32 cents. About 250 towns and cities were affected by the reduction.

he said, "we should stand firmly by it and refuse to be led again into danger no matter how tempting the fruits may be."

Business Next In Order. CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (AP)—The American Legion turned its attention today to the serious business of formulating its policies on major questions, including rehabilitation and possibly a war against crime.

Its day of pageantry, parading and thundering salutes, gave attention not only to these topics, but to such matters as Americanism, child welfare, national defense, the NRA, recognition of Russia, and the place for their next annual meeting, Miami, Fla., was recommended by the time and place committee for the 1934 meeting, over Atlantic City and St. Louis.

There was also the possibility that the bonus question would come in for consideration. Congressman Wright Patman, democrat of Texas, having announced last night that he would offer his plan for payment of adjusted service certificates to the convention's legislative committee. He said he was unable to forecast what the committee would think of his proposal, but asserted that there was an "overwhelming sentiment" among the convention's delegates for payment of the bonus in case there is an inflation of the currency.

Congressman Patman was the only member of a sub-committee of five who voted in favor of payment of the bonus.

Legion Would Keep Officers Out Politics. CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (AP)—The American Legion acted today to strengthen its regulations against participation in politics by its officials.

scattering of Legion delegates to the annual national convention voted almost unanimously in favor of a resolution providing for amendment of the constitution of the ex-service men's organization along those lines.

Passage of the resolution recalled action started within the past year for revocation of the New Mexico state department's charter from political activity.

The resolution was read before the meeting by L. A. Greene of South Dakota, chairman of the Legion committee on constitutional amendments.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4. (AP)—The American Legion committee on legislation today voted down resolutions submitted to it by five states asking immediate payment of the bonus.

The proposals had been previously rejected by the sub-committee on adjusted compensation and the sub-committee's name before the legislative committee accompanied by a minority report from Congressman Wright Patman of Texas.

Whether Patman, having lost two rounds in his fight to obtain Legion support of a campaign for immediate bonus payment in the event of currency inflation, would carry his effort to the convention floor was not indicated.

The legislative committee later approved a resolution urging that congress provide for waiving interest on loans made or to be made on adjusted compensation certificates.

Kelly and Wife Plead Not Guilty When Arraigned

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 5. (AP)—George "Machine Gun" Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, pleaded not guilty today to federal kidnapping charges based on the abduction and ransom of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire.

Under heavy guard the Kellys were moved by automobile from the county jail to the federal building for the arraignment. They were returned to the well-fortified jail immediately afterward.

Judge Edgar S. Vaughn refused pleas of guilty by the Kellys to a charge of kidnapping with ransom. He denied Mrs. Kelly a change of venue.

Trial of the Kellys is set for next Monday.

Kathryn Kelly, attractively dressed, smiled occasionally during the proceedings. Her husband, accused as one of the actual kidnapers of Urschel, appeared nervous.

Kelly was represented by James H. Mathews, attorney who defended Harvey Bailey in the kidnapping case, and Mrs. Kelly's attorney was John Roberts, whom she contacted while she was still a fugitive to defend her mother, Mrs. R. G. Shannon.

Two men were brought here for questioning. Kelso explained, Kelso said that young James, a brother of Representative Jesse James of Tennessee, had been fatally injured in a fight near Thorndale the night of September 10. The youth and two other boys were returning from an entertainment near Thorndale, he said.

Henry James died in a Taylor hospital September 13.

Kelso said he had obtained a statement from Arnold Berchenger, one of James' companions on the night he was fatally injured.

Kelso quoted Berchenger as saying that the three youths had gone to sleep for a few minutes on the road side. Berchenger awoke to find James fighting with a little boy and who had driven up in an automobile. Kelso said the ringer said he was injured the other man remained in the car.

HUNDREDS ATTENDED PEEPING OF ANNUAL MERCHANTS CARNIVAL

ATTRACTIVE DISPLAYS IN COLORFUL BOOTHS AND COOKING SCHOOL FEATURES

Hundreds of Corsicana and Navarro county people attended the opening of the sixth annual Merchants Carnival and Bazaar, and the Daily Sun cooking school, Wednesday afternoon and night in the old J. A. Dyer building, corner of Easton street and Fourth avenue. A large number of merchants have their wares attractively displayed in colorful booths arranged around the sides of the building, and down the center.

The carnival and bazaar is sponsored annually by the women of the Third Avenue Presbyterian church, and is meeting this year the success that it has enjoyed in its past five years existence.

Lunches are served at noon daily by the women of the church, and Mrs. Eva Mashburn, culinary expert, conducts the Daily Sun cooking school at 2 o'clock each afternoon. During the evening hours, entertainments by Corsicana talent are provided free, and are followed by free drawings of useful prizes.

The crowds yesterday afternoon and night were gratifying to those in charge, and even larger crowds are expected during the remainder of the week, until the carnival and bazaar closes Saturday night.

A coincidence was reported Wednesday by D. M. Fouty of Zion's Rest, pioneer resident of Navarro county.

Mr. Fouty is a member of the October term grand jury in the Thirtieth judicial district court which was empaneled Wednesday, Oct. 4. Mr. Fouty was on a grand jury empaneled thirteen years ago Wednesday, Oct. 4, 1921, the day he moved to Zion's Rest from Navarro where he had resided practically all of his life.

ADMIRAL BYRD'S POLAR EXPEDITION SHIP IN TROUBLE

WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's polar expedition flagship, the Bear of Oakland reported today it was in distress off Frying Pan Shoals in the North Carolina coast and later was taken into tow by a tug.

Meagre reports received by the coast guard did not disclose the nature of the vessel's difficulties, but coast guardmen here believed the craft had developed engine trouble.

Admiral Byrd is not aboard the vessel.

Three Killed In Blast Beaumont Magnolia Plant

BEAUMONT, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Three men were killed and five other men were injured when a tube blew out in a cross still at the Beaumont refinery today.

Ed P. Cook, and E. D. Jones, 27, were killed outright and H. P. Randall, 21, died a short time later of third degree burns over his body. J. C. Lackey, 21, was badly injured on the upper part of his body.

Four other men suffered minor burns.

Friday Will Be Corsicana Day At Blooming Grove Fair

Friday has been designated as Corsicana Day at the Blooming Grove fair which opens Thursday and runs through Saturday. Chamber of Commerce officials announced Wednesday that handbills were available for Corsicana citizens who planned to attend the fair, and urged that the bands be secured in order that the people of the western portion of the county might more readily recognize the interest of the county capital in their undertakings.

VEECK

the mistakes of the club; as its leader, he made it one of the most popular teams and drawing cards in baseball.

It was back in 1918, when the White Sox were the baseball idols of Chicago, and the Cubs were regarded as just another ball club, despite a National league pennant during the war years, that "Bill Veck" got his chance. A baseball writer under the name of "Bill Bailey" for the Chicago American, he had written a series of articles, criticizing the team and making suggestions for its improvement.

The late William Wrigley, Jr., who had just purchased a controlling interest in the team, read the articles and called Veck into his office.

"If you think you can do any better, then why don't you try it," he asked.

"All right, I will," shot back the baseball writer.

Became Vice President.

And he did. At Owner Wrigley's request, he became vice-president of the Cubs on December 18, 1918, second in command to Fred Mitchell, who was named president in addition to active management on the playing field.

On July 6, 1919, Mitchell surrounded the presidency to the enterprising baseball writer-athlete and confined his attention to managing the team.

Veck's career as president of the club was featured by his willingness and eagerness to try new ideas. He convinced Owner Wrigley of the value of advertising. He suggested Ladies' Day, which draws 20,000 women weekly to the northside park, and he suggested the purchase of several players despite price tags that made the Cub board of directors gasp. New ideas were with him to the end. Toward the close of the 1933 season, he came out with the proposal that the National and American league clubs play interleague series during their regular championship season.

It was Veck, who brought Joe McCarthy to the Cubs as manager and who fought for his retention and against the elevation of Rogers Hornsby from player to manager. It was Veck who braved the criticism of fan and writers in dismissing Hornsby as manager in 1932, and who gave Charlie Grimm the job, a move that ultimately resulted in the capture of the second National League pennant within three years for the Cubs. It was Veck, too, who convinced Wrigley that Rogers Hornsby was worth $250,000 in cash and play-off back in 1929. Under Veck's leadership, the Cubs paid probably the highest salaries in organized baseball. Under him, the Cubs never had a real holdout.

Veck was born in Booneville, Ind., in 1881, and started out as a printer's devil on the Booneville Standard. After trying his luck at selling photographs on the road, he landed around the offices of the Louisville Courier-Journal so long, begging for a job, that the city editor finally gave him a chance. He made good there, married Grace De Ford, a boyhood sweetheart, and eventually came to Chicago.

Two children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Veck—Peggy and William, Jr.

Roosevelt And Al Smith Meet In Friendly Way

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(AP)—When President Roosevelt entered the meeting room to address the National Conference of Catholic Charities last night one of the first persons he met was Al Smith.

"How're you, Frank?" said the former governor.

"Fine, Al," said the President and their arms went to each other's shoulders in an affectionate pat. Cardinal Hayes, archbishop of New York, smiling, for he had arranged to bring together the two men who had contested for the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

RATIFICATION FOR REPEAL EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT NEARS

VIRGINIA IS THIRTY-SECOND STATE TO FAVOR REPEAL WITH NONE OPPOSED

By The Associated Press.

With Virginia voting nearly 2 to 1 for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, the list of states favoring abandonment of prohibition now stands at 32, with none opposed.

Florida will vote next Tuesday and on November 7 referendums will be held in North and South Carolina, Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Utah.

If four of these seven states decide for repeal, the prohibition amendment will be nullified as soon as their state conventions formally pass on repeal, probably during the first week of December.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 4.—(AP)—

Virginia made the score by states 32 to 0 today in favor of repeal of the 18th amendment.

The old dominion, one of the bulwarks of prohibition since 1914, turned thumbs down yesterday on the amendment it had been the second to ratify and at the same time recommended the repeal of the Layman Act, state dry law.

Almost complete returns indicated that every district in the state had joined the repeal movement, with a majority of the counties joining the cities in opposition to the prohibition regime. Repeal majorities were heaviest, however, in the centers of population with Richmond, Norfolk, Roanoke, Newport News and Lynchburg piling up substantial margins that ranged as high as four to one and more.

With 1268 of 1890 precincts reported, the vote stood 90,742 for repeal and 50,886 against. With slightly fewer precincts tabulated the vote stood 85,941 for a state liquor control system as against 47,124 for continuance of state prohibition.

CENTRAL TEXAS CONFERENCE CABINET MET IN FORT WORTH

PROGRAM FOR ANNUAL SESSIONS OF CONFERENCE HERE NEXT MONTH OUTLINED

Dr. Caspar S. Wright, presiding elder of the Corsicana district of the Methodist church, has just returned from Fort Worth where he attended a cabinet meeting of all presiding elders of the Central Texas Conference over which Bishop Sam R. Hay presided. Bishop Hay will preside over the Central Texas Conference which meets at First Church in this city next month.

A partial program for the conference was worked out. The initial business of the conference will be the presiding elders' meeting with the bishop at 10 a. m. Wednesday morning, November 8, at the bishop's headquarters at the Navarro Hotel. The first open session of the conference will be called to order by Bishop Hay Wednesday night, at 7:30 o'clock. This session is for the organization of the conference. The next session will be at 9 a. m. Thursday morning, November 9th.

One of the high points of the conference will be the coming of Bishop Arthur J. Moore, who will spend Friday with the conference speaking at 11 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. On Thursday of the conference delegates to the general conference to be held in May next year at Jackson, Miss., will be elected.

Bishop Sam R. Hay, who was a former pastor at First Church some thirty years ago, expressed his delight at coming to Corsicana and expressed the hope that the old Corsicana district of which he was a one-time member would bring in a 100 per cent report, thus setting a fine pace for the balance of the conference.

So far nearly five hundred delegates are eligible to attend the conference and have entered provided for them. The homes committee under Mrs. J. S. Callicott is now soliciting homes. Members of other churches are offering their homes, a member of the Episcopal church having offered to take as many as four delegates. All who will take delegates are urged to notify Mrs. Callicott so that all matters of this kind can be cleared through her committee.

Members of the Corsicana district are asked to take notice of this announcement and be governed accordingly.

In the state reported, 92,000 ballots had been tabulated for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment as against 51,530 cast against repeal in yesterday's referendum.

With a slightly smaller number of precincts reported, advocates of a state liquor control plan led state prohibitionists 86,381 to 47,431.

Taken To State Hospital.
Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd conveyed a white man adjudged of unsound mind to a state institution at San Antonio Thursday.

FARMER'S TRUCKS GET LICENSE CUT LEGISLATIVE MOVE

SENATE PASSES SEVERAL HOUSE BILLS AT THURSDAY MORNING SESSION

AUSTIN, Oct. 5.—(AP)—A house bill to cut the registration fees on farmers' motor trucks 50 per cent was passed today by the senate. The proposal had been introduced by Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe.

Senator Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls, who sponsored the bill in the upper house, said that the fee on small trucks would be reduced from $35 to $18.50 annually.

Senator W. R. Poage of Waco said the bill amended to make certain that farmers' trucks would not escape taxation entirely. He said he believed that under a recent interpretation of the present law by the San Antonio court of civil appeals, farmers were exempt from buying truck licenses.

A bill by Senator Archie Parr of Benewick to transfer Duval county from the 14th to the 15th congressional district was approved by the senate. Senator Parr stated that Congressman Milton West of the 15th district desired the change.

A house bill to appropriate for maintenance of the railroad commission a special tax of one-tenth of a cent per barrel on oil was passed by the senate.

The house passed bills to place the salary of the commissioners of courts of Galveston and Travis counties at $2,500; to fix the compensation of the Jefferson county jailer at $1,800 annually; to raise the salary of the Upshur county commissioners and to provide for a reported for the Harris county court at law.

HERE'S YOUR SHOPPING LIST FOR SATURDAY

Smart Silk Dresses	3.95
We are proud of the styles and the fabrics in these lovely frocks. They are quality silk canton crepes with gorgeous satin trims. The bias-cut skirt adjusts to fit you perfectly. In black, brown, eel grey and rust. You will find them smart for all occasions.
New Fall Hats	1.00
Flattering, becoming brims of fabrics, smart little turbans of hand-shaped soft felt, berets and beret-types in felt. Choose one of these becoming styles. You'll find joy in wearing it. In black, brown, wine, navy.
Sheer Silk Hose	59c
Regular 1.95 quality sheer chiffons with slight defects. The imperfections in no way destroy the wearing quality or the perfect sheerness of the hose. Lace-top, French heel for graceful fit. Shades are new, desirable, fall-like.
Women's Bloomers	59c
A bloomer that has won favor with hundreds of our customers. Made of sturdy lustrous rayon woven to resist runs, sagging and stretching. Carefully tailored with double gusset crotch for added strength. Pink only. Sizes small, medium, large and extra large.
New Hand Bags	59c
Durable, artificial leather. Large roomy inside, lined with cotton moire, coin purse and mirror. Attractively ornamented with metal clips or buttons. You'll find them smart, convenient, and exceptionally low priced.
Men's Mercerized Sox	15c pr
Neat patterns in mercerized sox that look like rayon or silk. Clocks, checks, stripes and fancies in a wide color range. With double heel and sole for longer value. These sox must soon sell for 25c—as soon as the present supply is gone.
Men's Work Shirts	69c
Giant Red Ball work shirts—famous for long wear and comfortable fit. Of double strength blue or gray chambray, with double stitched seams. Good medium weight, strong enough for long wear but not too heavy for comfort. Sizes 14-12 to 17-12.
Men's Dress Shirts	79c
One of these days, not so far off—you'll be longing for the time when you could buy a GOOD shirt of fast color broadcloth for less than 1.00. Here's your chance now. Smart patterned shirts. Collars attached. Sizes 14-12 to 17.
Men's Cotton Sweaters	49c
Men's sweaters, ideal for wear under the coat instead of a vest. Pull-over styles with long sleeves. Washable, of course. You'll find them a big addition to your fall wardrobe at very little cost. Fleecing greys, tans, and blues.
Men's Shirts or Shorts	25c
Shirts of fine ribbed cotton cut with generous armholes to provide perfect freedom of movement. Shorts of fast color, fancy patterned broadcloth with double seat and re-inforced seams. Exceptional values at 25c.
36-in Outing Flannel	19c yd
You'll like its serviceable quality—its soft fleecy feel. The 36-inch width offers most economy in cutting children's sleeping garments, underthings, women's gowns. In stripes, small patterns, and solids.

What Will Your New Suit Say—Act—Look Like

90 Days FROM NOW

Suits are like human beings, lots of them put up a good front for a while — but a few dry cleanings tell the story.

We vouch for the character of these new Fall Suits—their unquestionable integrity makes them seem to cost a little more. But if you're buying for the long pull—
